Managing Partner
Moodfit - Online Interior Design

After I graduated in 2009, I started working at a consultancy firm as a junior architect. During this period, I have worked on several diversified projects (residential, mixed use, offices buildings, resorts, etc...) On of the projects I worked on was a 19,000 sqm mansion in Jeddah KSA.

After gaining this experience I was responsible, as a project Architect, for all phases of one specific project. I worked on concept design, design development, permit, MEP and structural coordination, and site supervision. My technical, communication and managerial skills have significantly improved during this phase.

In order to master both technical and managerial umbrellas, I decided in 2013 to do my MBA at The American University of Beirut. I graduated in May 2015 after winning the first prize award of the business innovation competition with a business idea called MoodFit.
